

FUTURE JOBS

EDUCATING THE WORK FORCE

Lou Zickler
Zickler Associates

We'd like to thank the Johnson County Development Corporation for knowing that it takes more than recruitment of new business to keep a community healthy.

The economic development organization has focused its energies on ways to better educate the county work force, in addition to helping NSK Precision America move its corporate headquarters from Chicago to Franklin and assisting in the United Natural Foods expansion in Greenwood.

The Metropolitan Indianapolis Board of REALTORS® congratulates REALTOR® Lou Zickler of Zickler Associates and the Johnson County Economic Development Corporation on which he serves for its efforts in making long-term economic development change countywide through worker education.

More than 800 employees lost their jobs when ArvinMeritor closed its doors in 2004. Since then, the organization has worked with Ivy Tech Community College of Indiana-Columbus and Johnson Memorial Hospital to find space for the college to operate a satellite campus in Franklin.

Congratulations, Johnson County Economic Development Corporation, for working hard to improve quality of life for your current—and future—residents.

For more information, go to www.mibor.com/johnsoncounty.

MIBOR. SOLD ON BETTER BUSINESS.

An educated workforce helps boost Johnson County's economy.